GOUACHE SUPPLY LIST:

PALETTE: Martin Universal Design Watercolor Palette – on Amazon. You want a palette without deep wells, and this palette allows you to mix paints without any wells.

- I sometimes use the inside plexiglass palette in my Strada pochade box.
- A disposable paper palette can also be used.

PAINT BOX: Transon Paint Storage Palette Box 24 Wells Airtight Stay Wet for Watercolor, Gouache, Acrylic and Oil Paint – on Amazon. I have 2 of them for additional colors but not necessary.

PAINTS: Make sure you get professional grade, not student grade paint. Winsor Newton and Holbein are among excellent brands.

BRUSHES: Almost any synthetic Acrylic brushes you have will work but you want variety of sizes such as the following: (Don't feel like you have to get all of these)

- Small pointed/round for little details. Sizes 4, 2, 1, 0
- Flats – 12, 10, 6, 4, 2
- I like: Raphael Precision 8534 in sizes 4, 6, 10, 12 - and 8524 in sizes 4, 2 and 0.

SUBSTRATE SURFACES: Paper for painting with gouache should be at least 140 lb. There are various types of surfaces to paint on and I encourage you to try different ones to see what you like. I usually paint on small paper - 9x12. No larger than 11x14

- Here's some examples: (the first 3 are my favorites)
 - Canson Spiral Bound, Mix Media Art Book, 138lb, 9 x 12 – on Amazon
 - Strathmore Toned paper for mixed media 140lb – on Amazon
 - Strathmore Mixed Media Board – 6 Sheets in a pack – on Amazon
 - Saunders Waterford 140lb cold-pressed paper – on Amazon
 - Moleskine watercolor notebook – on Amazon
- * If you use single sheets of paper in lieu of a pad, make sure to use a board and clips to attach paper to.

DROPPER BOTTLE: You'll need a dropper or dropper bottle to put this in with your paints, and a stir stick, like a popsicle stick.

VARNISH: If you choose to Varnish in lieu of a frame and glass, use Winsor & Newton Artisan Gloss Varnish. But you don't need this for class.
